ASK A. & M. HEAD TO RESIGN

Here and There

Editorial By ALEX. H. WASHBURN

THE president of the junior class of a junior college—still a very young gentleman—tells the head of the college that he is "dictatorial" and ought to resign. The head of the college tells the Board of Trustees he is handling matters the best he knows how. . . . What are you going to do about it?

W. S. Atkins Files for Congress Seat in This District

Hope Attorney Makes 11th Hour Entry in Seventh District

ACTIVE LIQUIDATOR Management of Closed Local Bank Leads State in Dividends

W. S. Atkins, who made an 11th hour entry into the congressional race in the Seventh Arkansas district, filing his corrupt practices pledge at Little Rock just before the deadline Tuesday night, has been a practicing attorney in this city for the last 20 years.

One of his most notable achievements is the liquidation of the closed Arkansas Bank & Trust Co. of Hope, which leads all banks of its size in percentage of actual cash recovery for depositors in the more than three years since the A. B. Banks & Co. failure of the fall of 1930.

Prior to his appointment as deputy state bank commissioner in charge of the local institution, Mr. Atkins saw service as chairman of the State Penitentiary Board, being appointed by Governor John E. McRae.

His only elective office is city attorney of Hope, a post he now holds. Mr. Atkins was a member of the State Democratic Central Committee for six years, served for years on the Hempstead County Central Committee, and at present is chairman of the only man in the history of the organization to be chosen chairman while not being at this time an actual member of the county committee.

Mr. Atkins was born in Nevada county, but as a child moved across the line with his parents into Hempstead. Until 25 years old, he lived on a farm, then moved to Hope and self-educated himself for the bar. He has been a local attorney for 20 years, and has been admitted to practice before the United States Supreme Court.

Weisner Charges Are Dropped Here

Evidence Following Auto Crash Is Held Insufficient

Three charges against Alvin Weisner were dropped this week in municipal court on motions by Deputy Prosecuting Attorney John Vesey. Insufficient evidence for conviction was said to have been the reason for withdrawing the charges which were driving while intoxicated, failing to stop after an accident, and reckless driving.

The charges against Weisner were brought by E. S. Greening following automobile crash in which the young car was damaged. Other cases in court: Andrew Jones and Oscar Graves were fined $5 and costs each on assault and battery charges.

Joe Kelly pleaded guilty to taking $5 in merchandise from L. C. Burr & Co., and was fined $10 and sentenced to one day in jail.

Lawrence Perry was acquitted on charges of assault and battery. Franklin Barr pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace and was fined $5 and costs. The fine was suspended on good behavior.

Reed Will Oppose Governor Futrell for Re-Election

Former Comptroller Files 30 Minutes Before Time Expires

TICKET IS CLOSED

Walls Declines to Run—"This Is No Time to Rock Boat"

LITTLE ROCK—Howard Reed, former state comptroller, entered the race for the nomination for governor at the Democratic primary next August a few minutes before the ticket closed Tuesday midnight.

Charles A. Walls of Loneke, who had been mentioned frequently during the past two weeks as a possible candidate for governor, issued a statement early Tuesday night in which he said he had decided not to enter the race because he thought "this is no time to rock the boat."

It was believed that Walls' announcement that he would not become a candidate for governor would mean that Governor Futrell would not be opposed for renomination, but Reed appeared at the office of Harvey G. Combs, secretary of the state General Committee, about 11:30, asked for a blank party pledge, and left the room. He returned in a few minutes and five minutes before midnight filed the pledge and paid his ballot fee.

Two Oppose Terry Other last minute filers included: Mayor Horace A. Knowlton and Dr. Horace E. Ruff for representative in Congress from the Fifth district, opposing D. D. Terry.

John L. McClellan, former prosecuting attorney of Malvern, for congressman from the Sixth district, opposing D. D. Glover.

William Thomas Jennings, Texas kanna for congressman from the Fourth district, opposing Ben Cravens of Ft. Smith.

W. S. Atkins of Hope, for congressman from the Seventh district. J. Oscar Humphrey, for renomination for state auditor.

Dr. W. H. Abington of Beebe, state senator from the Faulkner-White district, qualified Tuesday afternoon as a candidate for the Third district congressional nomination, opposing Congressman John E. Miller of Searcy.

Offices Crowded Offices of the committee secretary, in charge of W. P. Bowen, assistant secretary, in the absence of Mr. Combs, were crowded as the time drew near to close the entry list and some of those who waited until the last minute to file pledges and pay their fees had difficulty in pushing their way through the spectators to put their money on the "barrel head."

Mr. Reed did not make any statement concerning his decision to enter the race for governor.

Mr. Walls said he had decided not to enter the race because he did not want to be a participant in any movement that might delay solution of the state's economic and financial problems.

Mr. Walls' Statement. His statement follows: "I have had much encouragement from all parts of the state to enter the race for the nomination for governor. This has come largely from sincere friends who favor the reforms in state government and the school program that I have advocated for a number of years. While I appreciate deeply the many offers of support, it is my opinion that in view of present depressed conditions it would not be conducive to the best interest of the state to engage in a political campaign under such circumstances.

"In these trying times the personal ambition of prospective candidates should yield to the public good, and in deciding that I shall not become a candidate at this time, I am prompted solely by the opinion I have formed that it is not time to rock the boat. The boat may be full of holes but we must not let it sink. The state is bankrupt and every possible effort should be made to restore faith in our impaired credit. Whether or not we approve of the courses pursued by past or present administrations, it is now obvious to all that we must adopt some valid policy with reference to our existing obligations and repeated agitation will not help an already wrecked financial system. The usual 90 days of bitter political campaigning would undoubtedly delay, if not hamper, chances of an early financial and economic recovery in the state. I do not want to be a participant in any movement that will in any wise delay such a recovery.

"I regret exceedingly that no definite program has been adopted for the relief of our common schools. Unfortunately those upon whom this responsibility rests have made no effort to relieve the situation, and so far they have not manifested the slightest curiosity as to a proper solution of

Evelyn Frechette Pointed Out by Witness in Federal Court

ST. PAUL, Minn.—(AP)—Evelyn Frechette, friend of John Dillinger, Wednesday was identified as one of the occupants of the apartment where from which she and Dillinger fled last March 31.

Mrs. Daniel Coffey made the identification in federal court, where she pointed Evelyn out as the one she had seen in the apartment that was rented to Dillinger.

It was the first time that any of the three defendants charged with harboring the desperado Dillinger have been openly identified.

Gettle Kidnapers Sentenced to Life

Plead Guilty on Prosecutor's Threat to Ask Death Penalty

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—(AP)—Pleading guilty to charges of kidnaping by extortion in the abduction of William F. Gettle, Beverly Hills millionaire, James F. Kirk, Larry Kerrigan and Roy Williams were sentenced Tuesday night to serve life terms in San Quentin prison.

Superior Judge Charles Fricke, in pronouncing sentence, said the prisoners would be permitted to apply for parole, since no violence or torture of the kidnap victim was shown. They probably will be taken to prison Wednesday.

The pleas followed quickly District Attorney Byron Pitts' offer to permit the action as the alternative of standing trial by jury with the possibility that bodily injury to the kidnap victim be shown and death penalties result.

Kirk and Williams early agreed to the district attorney's proposal but Kerrigan held back for a time, expressing a desire to consult his lawyer first. Finally he agreed to plead to the kidnaping by extortion charge and the three immediately were taken to Judge Fricke's court.

After the pleas were entered, Gettle told briefly from the witness stand how he was kidnaped from his Arcadia country estate last Wednesday night after an all-day party.

A green parrot was the means of establishing negotiations with the kidnapers of Gettle, Ernest E. Noon, who acted as intermediary for the millionaire, said in describing events leading up to the rescue. No ransom was paid, although the bung had demanded $60,000.

"I received two notes, supposedly from Gettle, shortly after he was kidnaped last Wednesday night," Noon said Tuesday. "I wasn't quite satisfied that the signature was Gettle's."

Roosevelt Takes Sides With House

President Favors Arbitrary Marginal Requirement for Stocks

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Roosevelt declared emphatically Wednesday for regulation of the stock exchange by the Federal Trade Commission, as proposed by the house.

He sent word to the senate and house conferees that he wanted stringent marginal requirements for exchange deals as provided in the house bill, which sets up a 45 per cent requirement as standard.

The senate bill requires no specific figure.

City Gives School Fair Park Stands

Old Bleacher Lumber to Be Used at High School Field

Additional seating capacity at the high school athletic field was made available with the granting of an old grandstand located on the north side of Fair Park baseball diamond to the Young Business Men's association at a meeting of the city council Tuesday night.

Lumber in the city-owned property at Fair Park will be used in erecting bleachers on the west side of the high school field. Appearing before the council as representatives of the Young Business Men's association were Roy Stephenson and Syd McMath.

The high school field at present is being enlarged through an Emergency Relief Administration work project, calling for an expenditure of over $4,000.

When work is completed the field will be one of the best in this section of the state.

Other business with the council Tuesday night was the granting of three sprays to Dr. P. B. Carrigan to be used in a mosquito control campaign, launched in the city several days ago.

A proposal by Dave Finley that the city purchase gasoline to be used in ERA sanitation work was referred to a committee for a decision at the next meeting of the council.

No other business was transacted.

President Juniors Charges Horsfall Is Too Dictatorial

Some Sort of Student Government Is Asked as Substitute

ATTORNEYS IN ROW

Pirle Bluff Man and Lamar Williamson Reprimanded at Hearing

MONTICELLO, Ark.—(AP)—A demand for the resignation of President Frank Horsfall of the Agricultural & Mechanical college here was made Wednesday before a Board of Trustees hearing on charges that the administration was "dictatorial."

As a substitute, some form of student government was asked.

Hampton Thompson, president of the Junior class, declared in his testimony that the removal of Horsfall as president, and John R. Richardson from the Board of Trustees, would be the only action which would satisfy the students.

During the questioning of Dean James Hutchinson on the charge of the students that "no premium was placed on scholarship," a physical clash between Robert Wilson, Pine Bluff attorney representing the students, and Lamar Williamson, Monticello lawyer, was narrowly averted by a reprimand from Judge Patrick Henry, who was presiding.

Wilson objected to the introduction of scholarship records of former Monticello students in other schools, and Williamson, who represents the board, declared these records were necessary to the investigation.

This outburst was the first of the hearing.

Horsfall on Stand

MONTICELLO, Ark.—(AP)—With dramatic calm, President Frank Horsfall of the Fourth District Agricultural and Mechanical college denied emphatically from the witness stand late Tuesday that he ever made "crude allusions to the sex question" in chapel lectures or that he used improper language in reprimanding girls students for infractions of the college rules.

"Apparently some of the students misunderstood my words or misinterpreted them," he said emphatically. "If I said anything that was objectionable to them or hurt their feelings, I want to apologize to them publicly here and now, because it was not my intention to do so."

His statements, made slowly and emphatically, came after a tedious day of testimony. It all revolved around chapel lectures by President Horsfall in which he vehemently denounced dancing. Students testified that he said "dancing is indulged in only to gratify the sexual desires" and that he declared "any parent who permits a child to dance is a fool."

On the stand, however, Mr. Horsfall said his remarks certainly had been misunderstood or misconstrued. He denied that he had made the first reference, and said that he said that "parents who let children dance are foolish," distinguishing that "fool" and "foolish" do not mean the same thing.

As to the charge that he made improper remarks to girls in reprimanding them, he said that he reprimands students every day, does it in a frank manner, but added "that to say I take them to the office and talk sex to

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

Argument Waxes Hot Over Liquor Profits . . . Diners Flee When Gillespie Starts His Monologue.

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — You can match the protests of several congressmen that the Federal Alcohol Control Administration is hampering distillers against a current idea here that FACA has let the boys run high, wide, and handsome.

FACA has yet to hear from consumers. Director Joseph Choate's blast against the bootlegging "monster," which some officials think he exaggerated, echoed the distillers' plea for lower taxes and import duties without mentioning what Senator Borah calls "huge, enormous, unconscionable profits."

At about the same time one of the big wings of the "whisky monopoly" was found to have profited at the rate of 49 per cent in the last quarter of 1933.

Choate didn't mention that much bootleg liquor now underselling distillers' products is as good or better than legal stuff. Treasury lab tests show that.

Appointment of Fred Lee as FACA general counsel was hardly a body blow to distillers. Before the big bust-up at AAA, Lee and George Peek fought successfully for a distillers' code eliminating the Wallace-Tugwell program for a federal corporation or such strict control that whisky could be sold for $1 or $1.50 a quart.

After Peek was eased from AAA, Lee became law partner of Bill MacCracken of airmail-Senate contempt fame and turned over MacCracken's files to Col. L. H. Britton when the latter destroyed documents sought by a Senate committee.

Early FACA threats to attack the profit issue finally resulted in a patch of cost questionnaires to distillers. But the answers won't disclose profits, because liquor now being made and stored—on which costs will be reported—may not be sold for months hence.

Distillers contend that what look like huge profits really aren't, that banks won't give them credit, and that they must have the "profit" money to build up large stocks.

The House restaurant is crowded. But when Congressman Frank Gillespie of Illinois wants a table by himself he usually gets what he wants.

Sometimes he takes the vacant chair at a table and begins reciting poetry, staring at each other person in turn till they all jump and run.

The other day he sat down beside a strange woman, gazed fixedly at her, and went on like this—

"I see you're eating soup. Well do I remember the first time I ever ate soup. I was 22 years old. It was also the first time in my life I'd worn a pair of shoes."

"Yes, I never had on a pair of shoes until I was 22. All winter I walked to school barefooted, through two or three feet of snow."

"In my pockets I carried two blocks of wood and when my feet got too cold I'd put the blocks down and stand on them until my feet got warm again. Never will I forget the day when I lost the two blocks of wood."

At that point his audience gulped the last of her soup and went away from there.

An Amazing Shift
No queerer reversal of roles ever happened here than the twin performance of Brig. Gen. Samuel T. Ansell and John G. Holland.

Ansell originally was special counsel for the Senate subcommittee investigating Huey Long's election of Senator Overton in Louisiana and Holland was the committee's chief investigator.

Each had his own row with the committee and quit. Both said it was afraid of Huey Long and was trying to whitewash corruption.

The two have joined together in a law firm known as "Ansell and Holland" and are representing Mrs. Hilda Phelps Hammond's Women's Committee of Louisiana, which seeks to oust both Long and Overton.

Appearing before the Senate elections committee no longer as Senate employees, they hammer away at the charges which they once accused the Connally subcommittee of "botting up."

Ansell was an acting judge advocate general of the Army during the war. Holland investigated Teapot Dore, air and ocean mail contracts, and many other scandals.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

As a Precaution Against Accidents Choose Only Bred and Adapted to the Home

One of the children in the family was bitten by a dog not long ago. I, who have championed dogs all ways, have not changed my views about their safety or desirability as pets, as almost everyone thought I would after the catastrophe.

But it may be wise to talk dogs at this season of the year and take a sensible and serious view of the situation, and consider all the ways and whereof of risk.

In the first place, there are dogs and dogs. Each variety or breed is produced for a certain end. Breeders can do anything to change physical characteristics of dogs, from pointing their noses to shortening their legs. When Scotties run too much to torso and short legs, and found their poor little bellies scraping the ground, the kennel masters went into a huddle and said: "We must put an inch or so on their legs. So they did. I have no doubt that if dachshunds were brought by the yard we would have them looking like one of the new trains, of reptilian proportions, and with no resemblance to the canine species at all.

Picking the Breed
In other words, anything can be done to change physical characteristics of a dog.

And almost anything can be done to direct mental characteristics, too. Some dogs are suitable for hunting, others for police duty and others for pets. There are special training schools that develop these inbred characteristics to an amazing degree; dogs to lead the blind, dogs for herding, dogs to show off in circuses. There is no limit.

The mistake many parents make in choosing dogs for pets is in selecting breeds.

Hunting dogs, field dogs, watchdogs, all need room to run. They do not understand mauling by children. They cannot be cooped up in a house, or tied on a trolley in the yard, or fenced in on a two-by-four lot. As a rule, too, such dogs have a peculiar trait of looking to one master for orders. How natural this is. If he were trained to take orders from others, he is any man's dog.

To him that he acknowledges as master he will be faithful unto death, but to others, beware.

Many fathers buy such dogs from preference and then expect them to adapt themselves to a domestic environment absolutely foreign to their dispositions. It cannot be done. Usually something happens.

What Pet to Choose?
Where there are children, a pet should be chosen for his suitability. There are many breeds who thrive on family life. These are the ones I should choose as pets for the youngsters.

A mongrel would have to prove his desirability as a mixer before I would give him house room with the baby, or indeed any child. I like dogs, but I like children better. We cannot afford to take risks.

Children must learn to treat animals kindly. Half the accidents that happen are due to mistreatment or neglect. When a dog bites or snarls it is often merely defense. A happy, normal dog, well-fed and watered and kept clean, won't bite—unless, as I say, he is a complete misfit to his surroundings, or is abused.

I think children need pets. But first of all there must be room for them. If all things are unfavorable to a dog's happiness, then don't have one at all, because he will get nervous and touchy and it won't be his fault if one day he forgets himself so far as to lay open a leg or a hand.

September has always had its present number of days, but it has not always been the ninth month. Until the calendar was changed by Julius Caesar, it was the seventh month and was named for the Latin word "septem," meaning seven.

agent of Sam Inzell, received in 1926, after Inzell was reported to have sneered at a threat of Senate investigation. Here's the beginning and the end:

2-Day Air Show Opens in City

Special acrobatics by George Burrell, of Chicago, will be demonstrated here Wednesday and Thursday afternoons at the Hope airport.

The stunt program will include barrel rolls, loops, wing-overs, snap rolls and falling leaf tests—all staged in a tri-motored transport plane.

All stunting features will be performed in the vicinity of the airport. Burrell, veteran pilot and member of American Air Aces, Inc., will be at the controls of a tri-motored plane that thrilled thousands last year during the national air tour and later at New York and Chicago air shows.

According to Burrell, the plane he pilots is the only tri-motored ship in the United States which does stunting features. The ship is all metal, with 900 h.p. and has a wing spread of 78 feet.

There will be no admission charge for spectators to the air show, and the public is invited.

Pond and Sabelli Down in Ireland

Broken Gas Line Prevents Them From Reaching Rome

LACHINCH, Irish Free State.—(AP)—Barely escaping a plunge into the sea, Capt. George Pond and Lieut. Cesare Sabelli brought their Rome-bound monoplane to earth on a sandbank near here early Tuesday night.

The main connection between the gasoline tank and motor of the craft broke, the fliers said, just before they came down on a small field about an acre in size. Forced to cut off their motor, the big orange plane ran into a sandbank, causing some damage to the undercarriage.

They landed at 8:30 p. m. local time (2:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time), 32 hours and six minutes after taking off from Floyd Bennett airport at 6:24 a. m. Eastern Standard Time, Monday.

Although defeated in their attempt at a nonstop New York to Rome flight, they completed the season's first aerial crossing of the Atlantic. No plane has ever successfully made the nonstop journey to Rome from America.

Had the gasoline line of the Pond-Sabelli plane broken ten minutes earlier, the fliers would have been forced down before reaching the rock-bound coast of County Clare, one of the wilder areas in the British Isles.

Ocean Obscured
"It was the worst experience I ever had," said Pond, after walking two miles to Lachinch where the fliers rested at a hotel.

"We saw absolutely nothing from the time we left Newfoundland until reaching Ireland. We encountered much fog and a very strong, veering wind."

The fliers sought aid from Baldonnel airport, Dublin, and an Air Corps unit there was sending a machine to help repair the plane. They hoped repairs would be completed Wednesday.

Pinchot Concedes Race to Sen. Reed

Progressive Republican Defeated by Old Guard Machine

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—(AP)—Governor Gifford Pinchot Wednesday conceded his defeat for the Republican nomination for United States senator to David A. Reed, incumbent.

Pinchot blamed his defeat on illness. The main issue of the campaign was the New Deal principles which Pinchot favored and Reed discounted.

Reed Holds Lead

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Senator David A. Reed, who told Pennsylvania voters his candidacy for renomination gave them a chance to register opposition to President Roosevelt's "planned economy," took an early lead Tuesday night over Gov. Gifford Pinchot, his Republican opponent.

Returns from 2,650 of the 7,836 precincts gave:
Reed, 224,541.
Pinchot, 151,435.

Of this total, 507 districts in Philadelphia gave:
Reed, 69,268.
Pinchot, 28,567.

Most of the returns were from this city, where the Vare machine rolled up its usual plurality for those endorsed by the organization, and from Pittsburgh, the senator's home.

On the Democratic side, Joseph F. Guffey, the "original Roosevelt man," whose big block of delegates formed the nucleus of the president's support at the Chicago convention, ran far ahead of Roland S. Morris, ambassador to Japan under Woodrow Wilson.

Returns from 2,045 precincts in this senatorial race gave:
Guffey 116,331.
Morris 29,557.

William A. Schnader, whom Pinchot appointed attorney general and whom the Republican organization endorsed for governor, ran far ahead of his nearest rival, Charles J. Margiotti, Pittsburgh attorney, who successfully defended Senator James J. Davis, Republican, Pennsylvania, in his federal lottery trial.

Returns from 1,274 districts gave:
Schnader, 111,919.
Shannon, 28,409.
Margiotti, 24,233.
Phillips, 7,707.
McSparron, 5,803.

The Democratic organization likewise rolled up a big vote for gubernatorial candidate, polo-playing George H. Earle, whom Roosevelt appointed minister to Austria and who resigned to make the race.

Returns from 1,336 districts gave:
Earle, 24,601.
Judge Charles D. Coneland, 5,481.

Anytime, Anywhere . . if CONSTIPATED

That's the beauty of Feen-a-mint. You don't have to wait and delay which gives constipation a chance to flood your system with more poison. You just chew a delicious Feen-a-mint. The chewing dissolves the laxative ingredients; distributes them uniformly throughout the intestines and mixes them with saliva juice that is extremely valuable for it helps dissolve the dry waste matter. Relief is gentle, prompt and complete. Feen-a-mint contains a laxative ingredient that the world's best physicians approve. It ends "laxative dread." You enjoy chewing delicious Feen-a-mint, the chewing gum laxative. Try this mild, gentle and thorough laxative. "Deley" is dangerous—chew Feen-a-mint for constipation. 15c and 50c at a nonstop New York to Rome flight, they completed the season's first aerial crossing of the Atlantic. No plane has ever successfully made the nonstop journey to Rome from America.

Had the gasoline line of the Pond-Sabelli plane broken ten minutes earlier, the fliers would have been forced down before reaching the rock-bound coast of County Clare, one of the wilder areas in the British Isles.

Ocean Obscured
"It was the worst experience I ever had," said Pond, after walking two miles to Lachinch where the fliers rested at a hotel.

"We saw absolutely nothing from the time we left Newfoundland until reaching Ireland. We encountered much fog and a very strong, veering wind."

The fliers sought aid from Baldonnel airport, Dublin, and an Air Corps unit there was sending a machine to help repair the plane. They hoped repairs would be completed Wednesday.

FORD V8 Comfort

does not end when rough going begins

THE CAR WITHOUT A PRICE CLASS
A Few Features of the Ford V-8	Found in no other car under
V-Type 8-Cylinder Engine	$2545
Torque-tube Drive	1110
3 1/2 Floating Rear Axle	1375
Welded Steel Spoke Wheels	3200

A Ford V-8 "delivered" price is the total cost to you—no extras

THE Ford V-8 is smooth and dependable whether the going is over mud, sand or the roughest stretches. Free action on all four wheels lets you take your boulevard with you.

You have physical ease in the Ford V-8 because of its riding comfort. More important, you have mental ease because of its safety. You know that beneath you is the dependability of strong axle construction.

The new Ford V-8 is the most powerful Ford ever built. Yet it takes you even more miles per gallon of gasoline than last year's decidedly economical model.

And don't forget that Ford V-8 clear-vision ventilation . . . hydraulic shock absorbers . . . big-car roominess . . . tasteful upholstery and appointments . . . give you luxury and ease far beyond the price.

Before you buy any car at any price, drive the Ford V-8.

It takes good things to make good things.

YOU CAN USE MOST THINGS that grow out of the ground just as soon as they are harvested. But not so with cigarette tobaccos . . . not if you want them to be mild and taste right.

It takes many months of aging in the wood—2½ to 3 years to be exact—to bring out the flavor and mildness of the tobaccos—just as it takes many months of aging to bring out the flavor of rare wines. It means something that Chesterfield tobaccos are aged and mellowed like fine wines—it helps to give Chesterfield its milder and better taste.

Smiles and Tears
What would we do in this world of ours. Were it not for the dreams ahead? For thorns are mixed with the blooming flowers. No matter which path we tread. And each of us has his golden goal. Stretching far into the years; And over he climbs with a hopeful soul. With alternate smiles and tears.

To Give Concert Here Friday

Ross Graham, popular bass-baritone star, will be presented in a concert Friday night at city hall auditorium, starting at 8 o'clock. His appearance here is being sponsored by the Friday Music club. Mr. Graham, an Arkansas product, has won many laurels for his state within the last five years. Twice he was winner of a state radio contest, and shared in a $5,000 award given national winners by the radio concern. He represented the state in a national voice contest held at San Francisco, and won much favorable comment. His performances over the country led to signing of a contract with National Broadcasting company. Appearing with Mr. Graham as accompanist and soloist will be John Summers. Mr. Summers is a graduate of Ouachita college conservatory, and has had a wide range of concert experience. Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. George Ware or any other member of the Friday music club.

Beautiful in every detail, was the bridge party given Tuesday afternoon at the Capital Hotel, by Mrs. E. I. Rephan and Mrs. Martin Van Pool. The keynote of the decorations was spring, and the theme was very beautifully carried out with a profusion of lovely sweet peas arranged in vases and floor baskets forming a charming setting for the fifteen tables arranged for the players in the main dining room. The spring motif was also observed in the tallies and score pads. The hostesses were assisted in receiving their guests by Mrs. Jack Bush, Mrs. Collier Cox of Prescott and Mrs. Hogue of Nashville. Attractive favors were to Mrs. Welch Lawler, Jr., Mrs. Mae Duffie and Mrs. Kline Snyder. At the conclusion of the game, a most tempting salad course was served with iced tea, each plate bearing a corsage of sweet peas for the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Anderson had as Sunday guests Mr. and Mrs. Clark of Pine Bluff.

them, why its foolishness." Declares President Unpopular Another feature witness of the afternoon session was Charles Gibson of Detroit, a former student. He appeared voluntarily. He said that he considered President Horsfall's annual lectures on dancing "as a joke." He said he had heard them several times and did not take them seriously because he had been making them year after year.

Touching on another charge by students, that the president is disliked by alumni, Gibson said he had contacted several hundred in the past few months and that all of them leave him the impression that they dislike President Horsfall. He said they considered the president was crude in his operation of the college.

BLACK-DRAUGHT

"Such a Good Laxative," Says Nurse Writing from her home in Pottsville, Mo., Mrs. Anna LaPlante says: "I am a practical nurse and I recommend to some of my patients that they take Black-Draught, for it is such a good laxative. I took it for constipation, headache and a dull feeling that I had so much. A few doses of Black-Draught—and I felt just fine." Because so many people know from having used it that Theodor's Black-Draught is a good, purely vegetable laxative, millions of packages of it are sold every year.
